8:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m.

Performance by Hector Falcon & Cecilia Saia

Note on the Chacarera (Argentine Folk Dance):

The Chacarera is a folk dance from Argentina that is easy to learn. It is played in many milongas across Buenos Aires in the same way salsa might be played, as a break from Tango during the evening. Visually, it resembles Flamenco in that the dancers are separated and face each other. The music has a lively rhythm that can be clapped to or stomped. Don't miss this chance to learn this popular dance for the first time in Boston.
